Rain

Between 18:00 Sun 18 Dec 2022 and
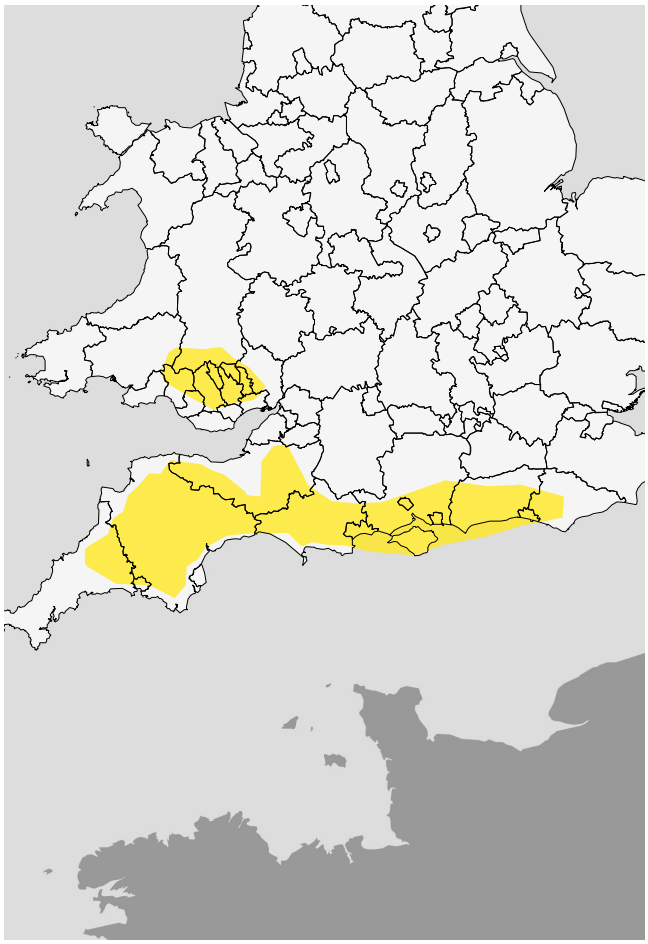
06:00 Tue 20 Dec 2022



Rain, heavy and persistent at times, is expected to bring some travel disruption.

What to expect

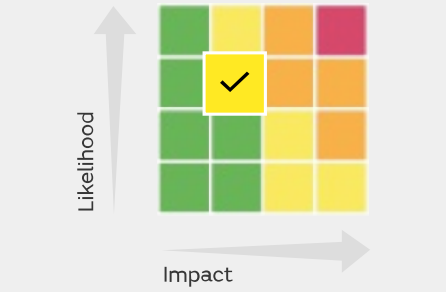
- Spray and flooding could lead to difficult driving conditions and some road closures
- There is a small chance that some communities will become cut off by flooded roads
- Where flooding occurs, there is a small chance of delays or cancellations to train and bus services
- There is a small chance that homes and businesses could be flooded, causing damage to some buildings

Further details

Periods of rain are expected to become persistent and at times heavy across parts of southern England and south Wales late Sunday, lasting through Monday, before clearing early Tuesday.

For the area across southern England, 25-50 mm of rain will fall widely, but the highest rainfall totals are likely to be across the higher ground of Sussex and Dorset, where locally 50-80 mm of rain may fall. Across Dartmoor, especially south-facing high ground, totals may locally exceed 150 mm.

For the area across south Wales, 35-50 mm of rain may fall widely, with 70-90 mm possible over south-facing high ground.



✓ Medium likelihood of low impacts
